

Detect ID Fraud through IDPlus REPORTS

The “Red Flags” rules which went into effect on November 1, 2008 will begin being enforced on August 1, 2009. They require mortgage professionals to prevent and detect instances of customer identity theft.

The Fair and Accurate Credit Transactions Act of 2003 (FACTA), sections 114 and 315, mandates that you be aware of:

- Alerts, notifications or warnings from a consumer reporting agency
- Suspicious documents or personally identifying information
- Unusual or suspicious activity on an account
- Notices from customers, victims of identity theft, or law enforcement authorities

In the issue of “Red Flags,” consider using IDPlus, an innovative and easy-to-use product that checks critical application information and lets you know immediately if something appears to be wrong.

IDPlus gathers relevant alerts including:

- Fraud alerts
- Active duty alerts
- Credit freeze alerts
- Social Security alerts
- Address alerts
- Other alerts

The information is presented in a convenient summary format (see back page for sample).

IDPlus is just one more way Credit Plus is committed to helping customers fight fraud.
